it's rising, I believe, in four stages to get to 21 percent over the next four years.

SENATOR SCHMITT: Is it 21 that the rest of the state employees are putting in now?

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yes.

SENATOR SCHMITT: Thank you.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Brashear.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Mr. Speaker, members of the body, I should have known. I hear Senator Chambers say that he labored years ago to divide the question and it can't be done, and here he is, you know, the compliant rebel, yielding. I made inquiry about...being the compliant soul that I am, I made inquiry about dividing the question because it just seemed to me there might be one or more items here that we ought to treat separately because there might be one or more opinions about which items should be overridden and which should not. And I was advised that that, so to speak, just...that wasn't protocol, that this is not a divisible question. And so then I sought counsel as to what one might do if one feels that this package is too expensive, too artfully or is...or is very artfully put together to cobble together, as the senior member says, the number of votes necessary for an override. And I'm led to believe that the only option is to vote against the entirety of the package, and then come back and put things in one at a time. I only share that just in case everybody didn't maybe have the opportunity to inquire as to whether or not we have to take it all or none, up or down. And there are no options because I, too, have concerns about the entirety of it in their individual components. Senator Wehrbein, can I ask you a question, please.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Wehrbein, would you respond?

SENATOR WEHRBEIN: Yes.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Senator Wehrbein, where are we in relationship to the other appropriations bills at this stage in the session if we were to do that which the nine blocks of
